PLAYMATE REVIEW

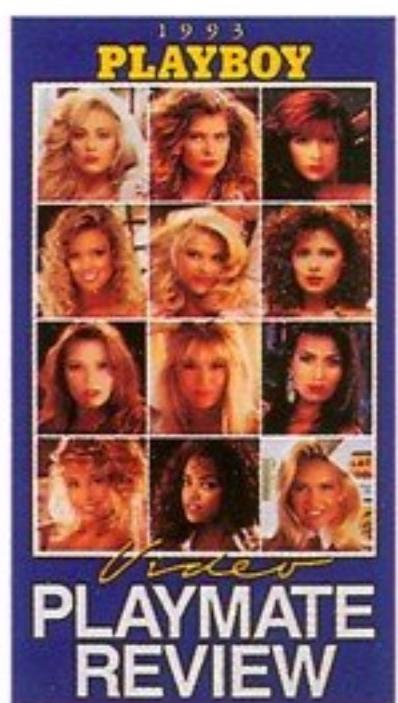

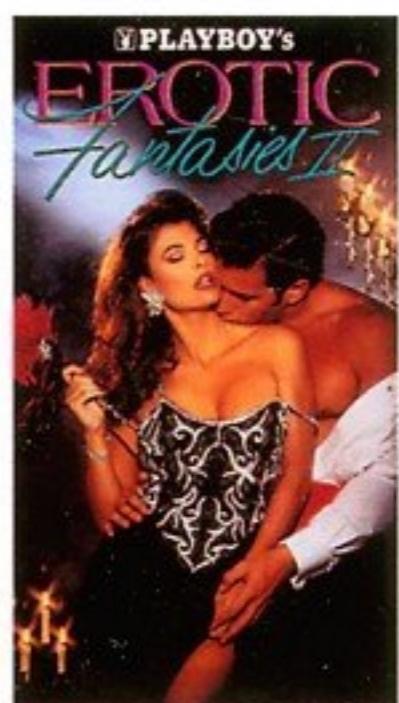

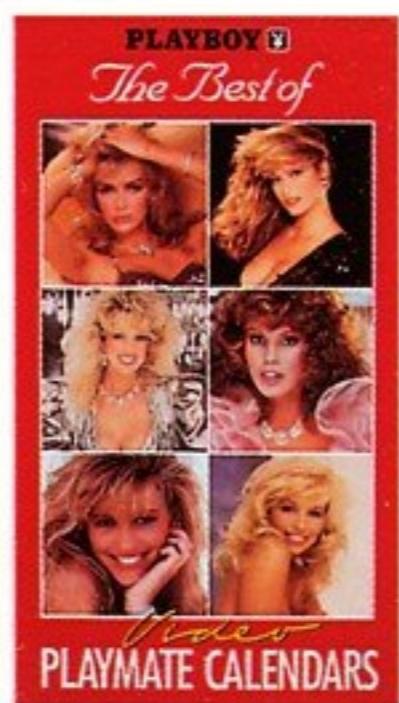

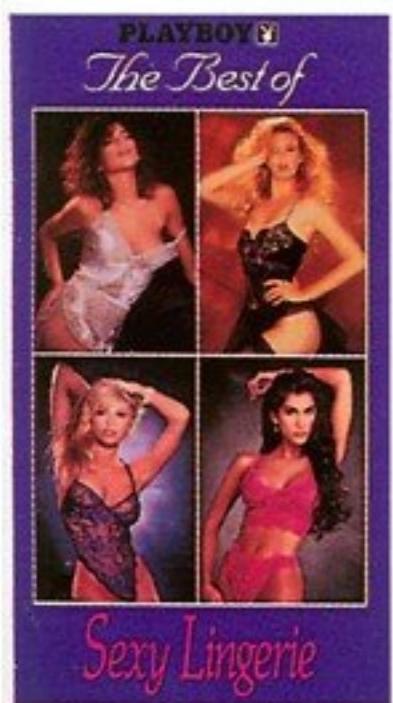

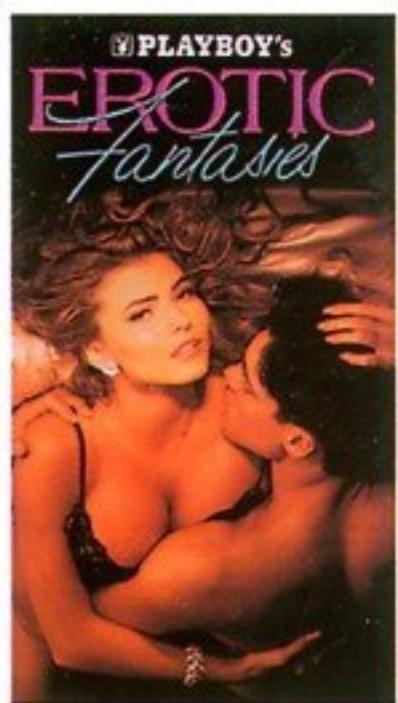

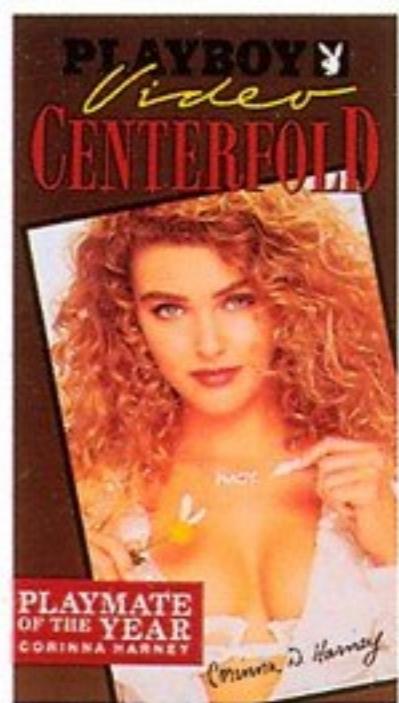

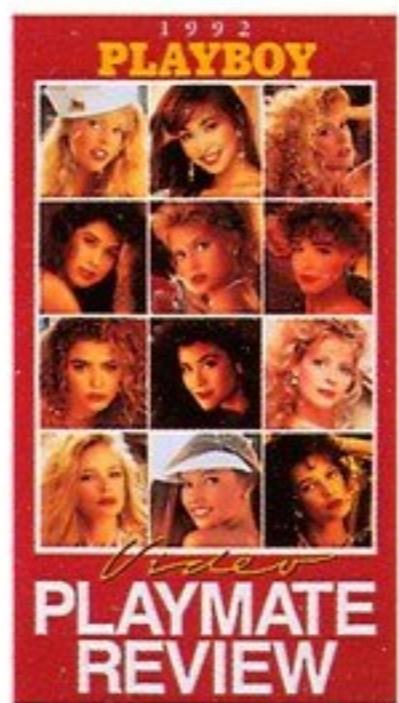

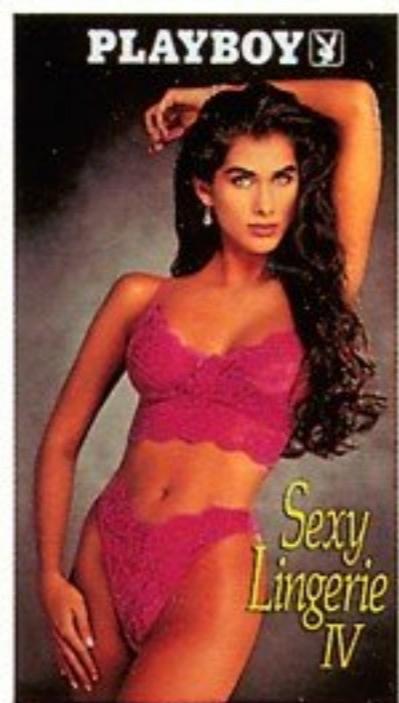

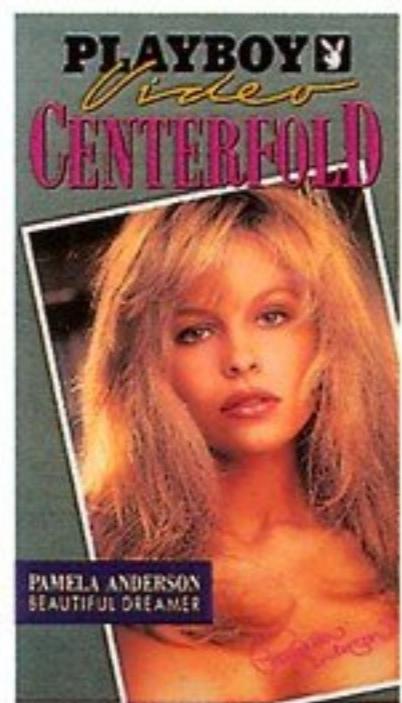

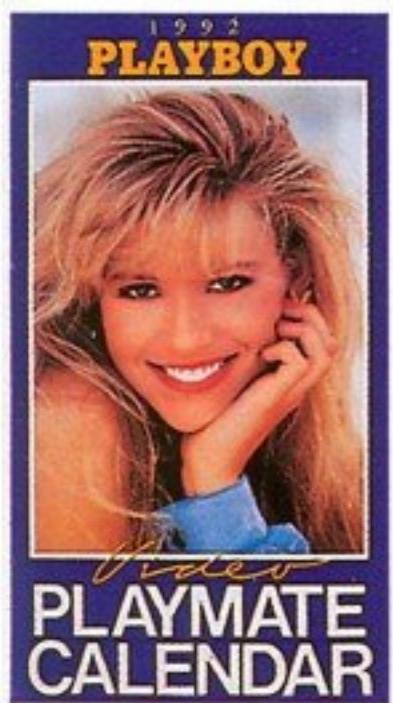

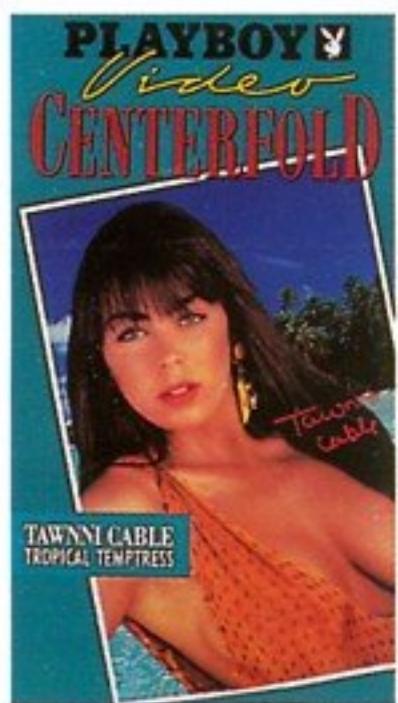

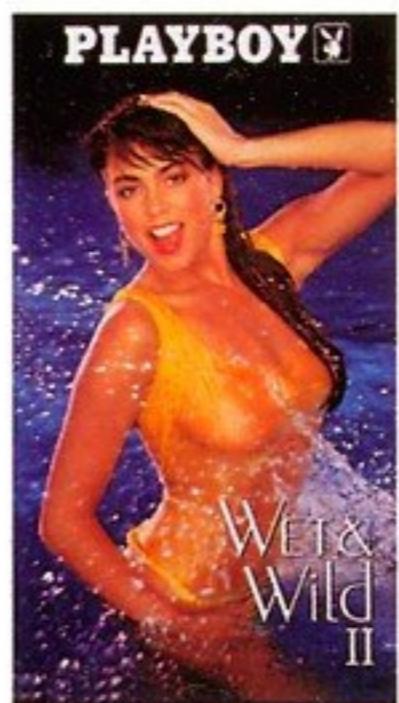

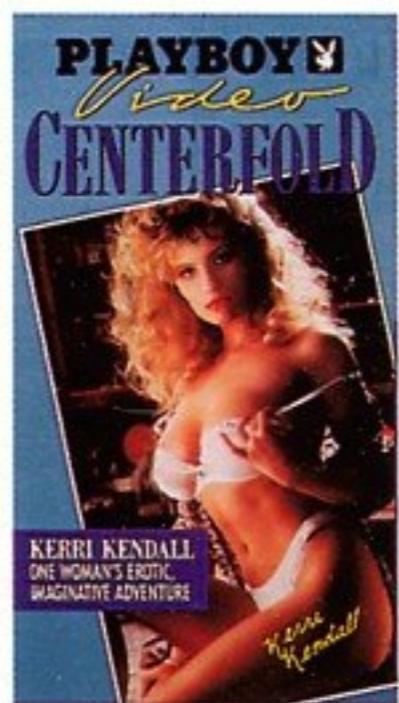

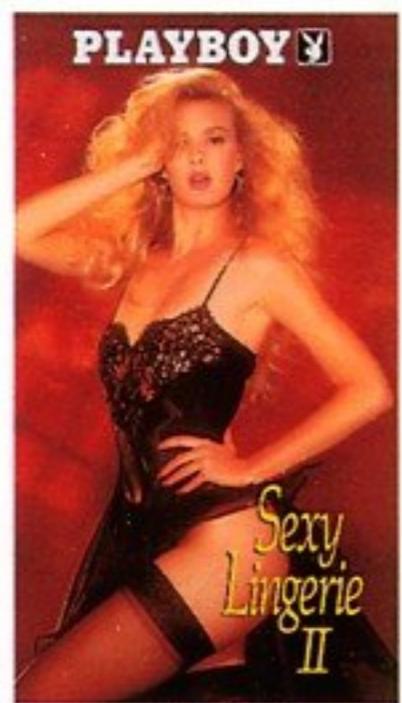

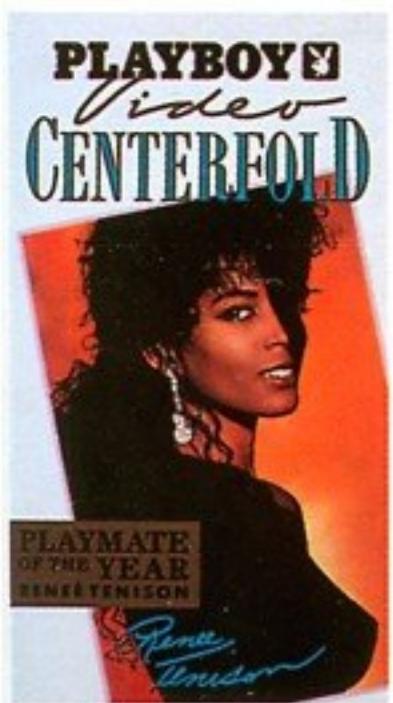

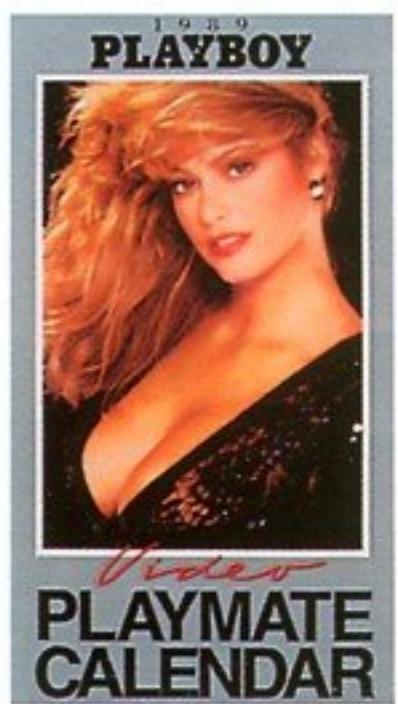

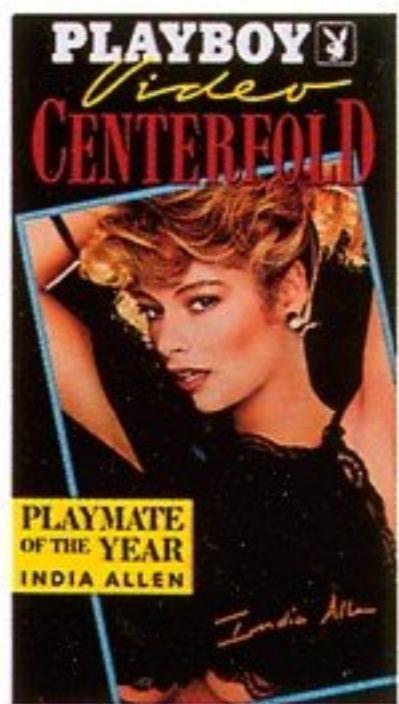

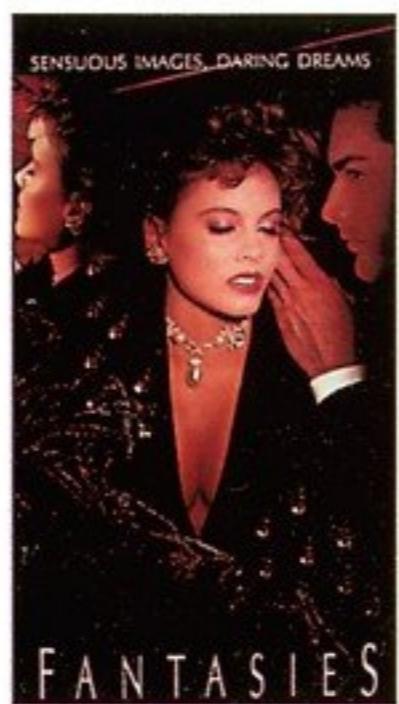

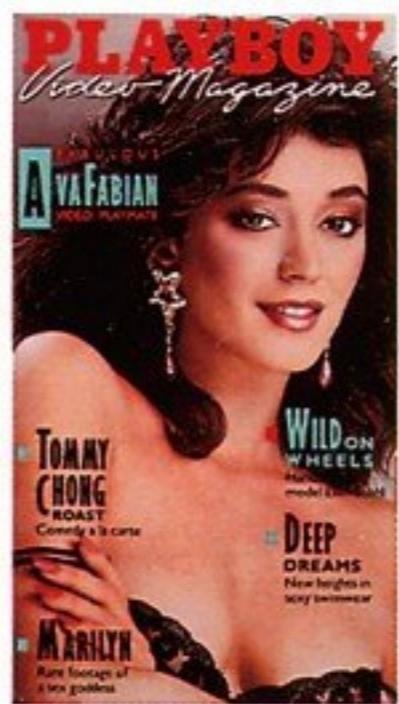

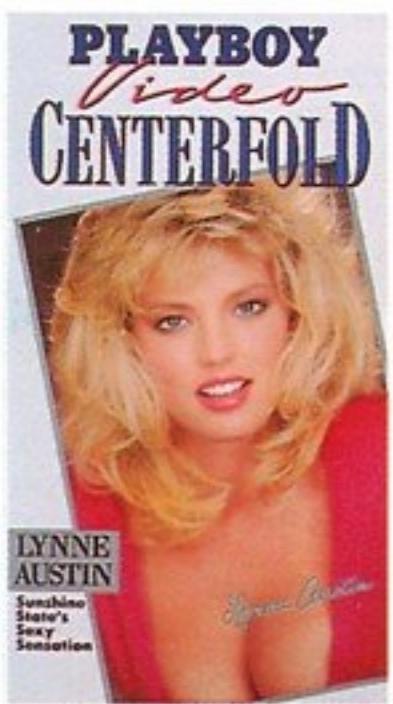

1992

Playboy holds the key that unlocks the door to an exciting world of television enjoyment. Playboy's

Entertainment Division is a prolific producer of home videos, and their popularity is evidenced by the invariable inclusion of several titles on Billboard's weekly list of best-sellers. In addition to Playmate and celebrity releases, subjects include erotic fantasies and sexual techniques to improve communication and heighten romance for couples. We decided to feature centerfolds in this Newsstand Special because they've been at the heart, literally and figuratively, of the magazine from the very beginning. The Playmates presented in this volume are representative of the parade of beautiful women who appear in Playboy's home videos. Our cover model, Playmate of the Year 1992 Corinna Harney, is a veteran of 10 productions. To obtain information about ordering in-stock videos, call 1-800-423-9494.

INDIA ALLEN

*DECEMBER 1987 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH
PLAYMATE OF THE YEAR 1988*

India Allen's exotic beauty matches the exotic name bestowed on her by her mother, a full-blooded Algonquin and gifted psychic, who predicted India's picture would be "everywhere." During high school, basketball was paramount to the tall (5'11"), athletically inclined India. But after four years of modeling and TV appearances, her mother's prophesy came true—in PLAYBOY as Playmate of the Month and again as Playmate of the Year. Since then, she has added film acting (Wild Cactus) to her credits. Some things never change, though: her love of animals and the outdoors, and faith in her mother's foresight.

PAMELA ANDERSON

FEBRUARY 1990 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Pamela Anderson hails from Canada, where she was filmed by a TV cameraman panning spectator faces at a Vancouver, B.C., professional football game. Immediately, network phones were a jingle with calls from viewers: Who was that long-lashed fan? The impromptu TV debut landed her a job as a Labatt beer poster girl. One thing led to others: more posters, print ads, commercials, a move to the States and her selection as a PLAYBOY Playmate. Stepping stones on her dream path to a hoped-for Oscar include appearances on Married People, Home Improvement, Baywatch, and a role in The Taking of Beverly Hills.

REBEKKA ARMSTRONG

SEPTEMBER 1986 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

By her own admission, Rebekka was a tomboy. Growing up, she played with GI Joes instead of dolls, began motocross racing at the age of nine and wore combat boots until she was 15. Today, she polishes her toenails before a date, adores Italian men and cultivates a career that includes modeling, TV specials and guest appearances, rock videos (among them Give Me the Keys by Huey Lewis & the News) and a spot in the movie Dick Tracy.

LYNNE AUSTIN

JULY 1986 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Despite winning a spattering of hometown tanning titles, before Lynne made her debut as Playmate of the Month, all the world had seen of the perfectly proportioned blue-eyed, blonde beauty was her midriff—on billboards for Hooters, a national restaurant chain where she waitressed. PLAYBOY changed all that, of course. Lynne's visibility became substantially higher. Hollywood liked what it saw and cast her in John Candy's Summer Rental.

TANYA BEYER

FEBRUARY 1992 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Tanya's first major career move was risky, but it paid off. After only a year of local work (having graduated from high school ahead of schedule), the Rocky Mountain beauty headed for Rome with $800 and two pictures in her modeling book. In less than a week she was posing for an Italian magazine. Her wholesome, athletic look comes from a youth of skiing, gymnastics, track and cheerleading. Tanya's boldness and hard work have been rewarded with a stellar international career and a lifestyle that satisfies her appetite for globe-trotting. Future goals include a hit record, film roles and completing her education.

CYNTHIA BRIMHALL

OCTOBER 1985 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Since Cynthia's beautiful body and flaming hair burnished the pages of PLAYBOY as the first unstapled gatefold, she has followed a career path that has branched off in several directions. Modeling offers were numerous and jobs as frequent as she wanted them to be. She co-hosted a syndicated TV program. Then came opportunities in movies, with parts in Hard Ticket to Hawaii and Picasso Trigger. Now she's developing her musical talents. After a stint with Playboy's Girls of Rock & Roll, her vocal abilities were showcased in an installment of the television series P.S. I Love U, in which she portrayed a country-western singer.

ELOISE BROADY

APRIL 1988 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Texans insist that everything in the Lone Star State is bigger, better and more beautiful and that explains how Texas-born poster-girl Eloise landed her first part in a Kris Kristofferson-Willie Nelson film, Songwriter, and her second as Kim Basinger's double in Nadine. But it was a mix of beauty and dramatic flair that won her those movie roles and others: Weekend at Bernie's, Troop Beverly Hills, Dangerous Love and The Model Wife. Eloise also has popped up on the small screen in Dallas, Kiss, Kiss, Munsters Today and a Back to the Future special.

TAWNNI CABLE

JUNE 1989 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Tawnni looks like her name sounds—in a perpetual state of tan, thanks to her love affair with surf and sun. When she's not posing in swimsuits for calendars (she has four major calendar credits) or TV (CBS' Swimwear '91), she models for high-profile print ads and television commercials. She has guested on TV shows that range from Family Feud and Hard Copy to Eden and Elle Macpherson, and co-starred in USA Cable's Bobby and Marilyn. Acting is not Tawnni's top priority, however. Her deep desire to help improve the lives of underprivileged children is, and to that end she hopes to receive a degree in education.

JULIE CLARKE

MARCH 1991 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

A beauty scout spotted Julie modeling swimwear and sent her picture to PLAYBOY. The rest is history, and her life (all 22 years) is divided into two major periods: pre-Playmate and post-Playmate. Pre-Playmate Julie worked—and worked out—at a health club, fine-toning her body to peak precision. Post-Playmate Julie tours for Playboy and models, although she recently said no to a lucrative modeling contract in Paris. Her next big moves? College and a visit to Australia. Meanwhile, she stays busy bungee jumping, skydiving, skiing (snow and water) and roller blading, and plans to resume competitive horseback riding.

SAMANTHA DORMAN

SEPTEMBER 1991 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

"Sam," as friends call her, was 16 when she stepped out of a popcorn line at the movies, was spotted by an agency rep and stepped into a modeling career. Her fabulous 5'10" form and face have graced magazines, fashion catalogs, billboards, posters and TV commercials. She has appeared on Seinfeld and The Vicki Lawrence Show, and had a feature role in the film Me and Him. Becoming a Playmate was a dream come true for Sam. In fact, she realized her dream twice: once in the U.S., and again as Playmate of the Year 1993 in the Czechoslovakian edition of PLAYBOY, an honor she was only too happy to accept in person.

DEBORAH DRIGGS

MARCH 1990 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Daring, determined, deliriously overbooked sums up Deborah Driggs. In high school she was a championship ice skater; in college, between studies and sports, a cheerleader and homecoming queen. After college, she launched two successful careers: modeling and acting. Acting classes and hard work have paid off with five U.S. films and one Japanese production, as well as an impressive list of TV guest and feature appearances. Playboy Channel viewers have the opportunity to see her regularly as a veejay for Playboy's Hot Rocks.

DONNA EDMONDSON

*NOVEMBER 1986 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH
PLAYMATE OF THE YEAR 1987*

Donna's full-time career is not being Playmate of the Month, Playmate of the Year, touring for Playboy or starring in a string of Playboy videos. She's a bona fide, licensed real estate agent. She's also a down-to-earth hometown girl whose heart belongs to family and friends, and whose head isn't turned by bright lights and big cities. In high school, this stunning beauty won top scholastic awards, played first base on the girls' softball team and held down a job. A hint of her future destiny came when the school yearbook staff dubbed her "Most likely to be a Bunny." We vote her most likely to be a real estate tycoon.

BARBARA EDWARDS

SEPTEMBER 1983 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH
PLAYMATE OF THE YEAR 1984

Barbara Edwards paints a pretty picture—literally: She's an artist. But she was a late bloomer. High school was a wash until her senior year, when an art teacher submitted her drawings to a scholarship board and she was awarded a college scholarship. Majoring in art, Barbara's grades—and confidence—skyrocketed and her life changed forever. In addition to working toward a commercial art career and modeling, she added a science degree to her growing list of ambitions. Barbara's other interests include theater, ballet, and meeting lots of people, especially celebrities, whose autographs she collects.

REBECCA FERRATTI

JUNE 1986 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

She plays hard (loves competition), fast (needs 48 hours in every day) and to win. Rebecca owned 25 beauty titles before she became a Playmate. Modeling, TV and film credits quickly followed. She has appeared in dozens of commercials and videos, on radio stations coast to coast, television talk shows (MTV, The Joan Rivers Show) and American Gladiators. She has starred or guest-starred in a Malibu pilot, Sweating Bullets and others. Movie roles, totaling 10 so far and still counting, include a cameo in Three Amigos, with Martin Short, Steve Martin and Chevy Chase, and the lead in Gor and Outlaw of Gor.

KAREN FOSTER

OCTOBER 1989 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Texas-born Karen Foster is a breezy mixture of beauty, brains and brawn. In grade school she rode dirt bikes and dreamed of Elvis. She studied karate, competing in tournaments against boys, usually placing in the top three. In high school she went to twirling camp, collected a roomful of competition trophies and graduated at the top of her class. In college she parlayed twirling into cheerleading for a pro basketball team, and juggled classes in computer science and accounting with modeling assignments. For Karen, being a Playmate, filming videos and making personal appearances is an unbeatable combination.

MORGAN FOX

DECEMBER 1990 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Morgan stands tall—just one inch under six feet—as captain of the 1993 Playboy Ski Team. The Canadian native is no stranger to sports. As a youngster, she competed in professional rodeos, and still rides regularly. As an adult, she participates in an impressive number of athletic activities (from football to kickboxing) and rarely misses a day's strenuous workout at the gym. But magnificent Morgan is more than a sportswoman. After being crowned Miss World Canada at 18, she became a successful stage, television and film actress (playing the lead in the movie Flesh Gordon II) and often tours with Playboy's Girls of Rock & Roll.

WENDY HAMILTON

DECEMBER 1991 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

When Wendy was a teenager entering high school, being 5'10" helped gain her the captainship of the girls' basketball team, but no boyfriends. A few years later, being tall helped win her modeling contests, an appearance in Vogue and a bonanza of boyfriends. Becoming Playmate was a prelude to TV appearances on Baywatch, Full House and MTV. Her tour of 50 states and Europe with Ozzy Osbourne's band, as one of the Ambiance Crew girls, was captured in the documentary video Don't Blame Me. The best is yet to come.

WENDY KAYE

JULY 1991 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Wendy was barely 19 and just out of high school when she bedazzled PLAYBOY readers with her centerfold debut. Earnest, enthusiastic and idealistic, this Fourth of July firecracker is unabashedly patriotic. Although she would love to travel the world some day, first and foremost she loves being an American and celebrates Independence Day with genuine fervor. When she was five years old, a friend asked her what she wanted to be when she grew up. Wendy's answer: a superstar. But she's not sitting around waiting for it to happen. While mapping out a college curriculum, this supernova shines as a busy model.

KERRI KENDALL

SEPTEMBER 1990 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

A creative imagination combined with a rare sense of whimsy make Kerri an intriguing Playmate to interview. She has been known to solemnly introduce visitors to her stuffed animals, one by one. Kerri was a part-time model and full-time receptionist in a doctor's office when discovered by PLAYBOY. Subsequent to her centerfold appearance, modeling jobs have increased (she's a 1993 Snap-on Tools calendar girl), she has appeared on The Playboy Channel (360 Sports Spectacular, host; Third Thursday, guest) and was a guest-star on Inside San Diego. When not on TV, Kerri often can be seen playing Foosball or volleyball.

CHRISTINA LEARDINI

APRIL 1991 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Christina has a secret ambition: to be a comedian. She says she doesn't have the guts to stand up in front of an audience, but this national swimwear company spokesmodel keeps friends and colleagues laughing. When the Jamaican on-location conditions for the video Playmates in Paradise got too primitive for comfort, she renamed the project Playmates in Hell. Christina claims her personality doesn't match her looks: She's really a nerd trapped in a model's body. She is, however, very serious about her nationwide promotional tours for Playboy, where her natural charm and glamour work their magic.

DIANA LEE

MAY 1988 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

In Diana Lee, the work ethic of her Chinese immigrant parents emerged as artistic passion. At six, she began music lessons: first piano, then the flute. While still in elementary school, she soloed with the Seattle Philharmonic, and at 17, performed Mozart in concert. A college music teacher told her she was too old to begin a dance career, but nothing daunts a determined Diana. In due course, she earned a bachelor's degree in modern dance, pursued a master's, and made her living as a dancer. Wonder if the music teacher caught her performance in the title sequence of the James Bond film License to Kill.

LISA MATTHEWS

PLAYMATE OF THE YEAR 1991*

Lisa learned her love of sports from her father, who turned her into a tomboy by immersing her in the family passion for baseball, football, horseback riding and skiing. Sports turned her body beautiful and she took to modeling at 17. Nobody is quite sure where she learned her love of animals, but it resulted in two unusual pets: Chester and Chelsea, the chinchillas. Don't even think about mentioning fur coats around her. She combines sports and her fondness of animals by riding horses and competing in equestrian events. Art is also a major interest these days and teaching art history may be among tomorrow's goals.

JACQUELINE SHEEN

JULY 1990 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

She earned the nickname Action Jackson by being a jack-of-all-trades and the master of many: a top sales rep, a certified scuba diver, a barefoot waterskier, expert snow skier, an equestrienne, a sportswoman who can sail, swim and dance with the best. She's also an animal lover whose pets have ranged from tame (horses, dogs, cats and a parrot) to wild (crocodiles and a chimp). She has appeared in films (Bugsy, Last Action Hero, Miracle Beach), on TV (Silk Stalkings, Into the Night, Family Feud) and in commercials for Bud Light and Ford. Recent modeling assignments have included fitness magazine covers and posters.

KATHY SHOWER

PLAYMATE OF THE YEAR 1986*

Kathy has realized the dream of many aspiring actresses: She has arrived, big time. But the road from her native Ohio has been long and often hard. In college, she majored in education with a minor in drama. She danced her way into show business while working as a model, waitress, head bank teller and cosmetologist to pay the bills. A big break in a play led to TV spots and, eventually, Hollywood. Being Playmate of the Month and Playmate of the Year 1986 opened many doors, she says: a steady part in daytime's Santa Barbara, a variety of guest shots and roles in Chameleon and The Woman Who Loved Too Much.

Beauty can be a burden when it comes too young, as it did to Dona Speir who in her early teens looked much the way she does today. Determined to turn teenage wolf whistles and catcalls into curtain calls, Dona took up modeling and her career took off, with commercials, television and movies. She's starred in three Andy Sidaris movies (Hard Ticket to Hawaii, Picasso Trigger and Savage Beach), and played in numerous others, including Dragnet '87, Into the Night and Doin' Time. Her parents were the first interracial couple in her small Rocky Mountain hometown, but rather than become a wall-flower, she chose to be a standout. Being a Playmate has been the career catalyst for modeling and commercial jobs, a succession of music videos and television appearances that range from Oprah Winfrey and Arsenio Hall to Married...with Children, In Living Color and, with twin sister Rosie, The Vicki Lawrence Show. PETRA VERKAIK

DECEMBER 1989 PLAYMATE OF THE MONTH

Petra is the daughter of a Dutch father and Balinese mother, so an assignment to shoot a swimwear calendar in Indonesia became much more than a routine modeling job; it was a chance to familiarize herself with ancestral roots. Being a centerfold gave impetus to Petra's acting ambitions, and she's worked practically non-stop since. Her growing list of credits include music videos, television feature spots and guest appearances, and film roles in Pirates, Rainbow Drive, Auntie Lee's Meat Pies and 29th Street. Brittany is arguably PLAYBOY's busiest model, but that's no problem because moving at the speed of light is second-nature to her. The London-born beauty who grew up in Hong Kong is a self-confessed thrill seeker who's hooked on travel. She'll go just about anywhere to indulge in one of her favorite activities: scuba diving, hang gliding, bungee jumping or race-car driving.
